Complete Reversal of Form by Morris' Club Puts Frederick Away Out in Front.

CONNOLLY GOING GOOD ALL CAN CLOUT THE BALL

Nationals' Outfielder Is Playing Short Manager Larry Eidsness, of "Aggies," with Frederick and Is Clouting Ball at .300 Clip.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug 7-Showing "On to Richmond." spurt during July and to reach a point vithin easy striking distance of the Frederick team, Martinsburg has slumped badly in her play since the first day as the competing clubs this season appear to be more evenly matched than as one the league leadership as she was two ever in the history of organized hand-weeks ago, with but three weeks of the lot ball.

Frederick, with each team having twen-times and it was his consistent driv-ty-two games yet to play.

Martinsburg has three games yet to play with Frederick, two of which are postponed games, and will not be played off unless they figure in the final outcome. This means that, in order for Martinsburg to win the pennant, she must take all three games from Frederick, and then win four more of the remaining nineteen games from the other teams than Frederick wins. In view of the fact that Frederick seems to have strengthened up by the addition of Tommy Connolly and Tex Myers, this proposition does not seem any too bright for the locals—although it has become an axiom in Blue Ridge League circles that the only sure thing is that the unexpected will happen. Connolly has added considerable batting strength to the Frederick team, and Myers, who is playing the strength to the frederick team, and Myers, who is playing the strength to state that he is a pitcher of not little ability and can go on the mound in a pinch and serve up an assortment of puzzling shoots. Larry has the done strength to the siderable batting strength to the Fredrick team, and Myers, who is playing this twisters.

Bovne will not be missed by Frederick as long as Myers keeps up his present clip. He came to Fred ick with a reputation of having been a star in the Tri-State League, and surely upholding that reputation.

outnelder Keener, of the Lonaconing team, of the Cumberland and Georges treek League, up in Maryland, is the only new man added to the Martinsburg rester, he being brought here because of his great reputation as a hard hitter and fast fielder. He is the latter, all right, but thus far has failed to deliver with the stick, setting but one hit in his first three games. However, as he had been hitting .26 in thirty games before coming here, he will probably strike his stride before long and be of much value to the locals in the remaining games. He was formerly with the Chicago Na-tional League team, was later farmed to the Fort Wayne club, of the Central to the Fort Wayne club, of the Central League, and jumped into independent baseball because of trouble with the management. His suspension has been lifted and his release secured, and he will stick to organized ball. His home is and Gordon yesterday in the tennis tournament at the Dumbarton Club, to Crafton W. Vs.

Reggie Rawlings and Bill Donnelly. Washington boys with the Martinsburg team, have been going through a batting slump the past week, and its effect has been noticeable. Both men have been among the most consistent hitters in the league, and Rawlings has been leading the circuit with the stick since his first game. Morris, another Washington boy, who has been playing first base, has been keeping up his heavy stick work, but is badly handicapped in his field and base work by his injured knee Shipley, another Washington lad. had been playing a good game at 4-6, 7-5, while A. J. Gore success-first, but the management felt that the stick work of Morris was needed in the crucial games this week and make room for Morris. The almost daily shifting about of the men and the absence of a finished first sacker has caused the loss of a number of games for Martinsburg. The team has been without a regular first baseman all season, and has been forced to play men unacquainted with first base work. This has been a weak spot all season, with little prospect of improvement during the remainder of "Skeets" Hayes, a Washington boy who has been playing a brilliant game at short field, is now one of the best and most consistent hitters on the team, and is going at better than a .200 clip. His stick work has been of the most timely character, driving any runs across. The back stopping f "Stuffy" Johnson, a Baltimore boy has been the sensation of this depart ment in the circuit ever since he was placed there regularly, and his hitting has been such that he is pushing Rawlings close for the honor ing hitter of the league. Johnson has been getting many doubles lately, and the dreaded by all the pitchers.

Portner Club Probably Is the Winner in Richmond Series

Richmond, Va., Aug. 7.—The amateur team which will represent Richmond in the intercity series with Washington is as yet an uncertainty. Today the Portners, leaders by two games in the Richmond League, played the Homebrucos to a 5-to-5 tie in a game playing off a previous tie.

The season of the Richmond League closed today with the Portners two games in the lead, one tie game with the Homebrucos and one game up to the commission to decide.

The Duplex team is the winner in the Commercial League, and these two teams will now battle for supremacy of the local field. Followers the amateurs predict that the Portners will defeat the Duplex, despite the fact that the latter is one of the strongest teams in the city.

and they rely upon record-breaking crowds each day to be present and see them make good. Lovers of horses worth while should bear in mind that ten days from to-day—August 18—will take place the Colesville Horse and Colt Show on Ben Ray's Northeast Farms, near Colesville, Montgomery County.

records of the society in every direction.

The present is the third year of exhibits, and every succeeding year has only strengthened the show in the minds of the masses. Whatever may be said in favor of other exhibitions of horse fiesh, the Colesville Horse and Colt Show stands in a class by itself. No other association can boast of such a rural setting as nature has given to the show in question. It is held on a 200-acre meadow bottom, which is bisected by a beautiful and broad stream of pure water, and there is plenty of room for hurdle and flat

To the Ray farm annually people gather as to a great fete from Mons-gomery and adjoining counties and from the District of Columbia, and they go away delighted with their day's outing. The officers of the asso-ciation are the solid farmers and professional and business men of the county, and their sole pride is to put up the best exposition of useful horse flesh that Montgomery and adjoining counties can furnish. There is expected to be on the grounds this year some of the best horses that have been shown for weeks past in Virginia, and the show will only last one day. The grounds are reached over the very best of roads, and the scenery en route for rural beauty can-

PLAY GOOD GAME.

Surveyor's Division Trims Water Department, 1 to 0.

In a close contest and pitchers' duel, teams representing Water and Sur-veyor's departments of the local government met Friday afternoon on the Monument Grounds Water losing by a 1-0 acore. "Tommie" Adams for the losers struck out thirteen men, allowing but four hits. Garrett opposed him, striking out nine and allowing four hits. The game was featured throughout by good fielding. Robertson, Water's center fielder, made two difficult running catches Both Handiboe, for the winners, and Newman. for losers, caught an ex-cellent game. Handiboe knocked in the of the day. Two very pretty New York girls were pinched in Chicago recently on the charge of having pilfered a suit case. This was their alibi:

Two men firted with us. We turned around and waved ut them and then, without really looking, we picked up a suit case and started away from the railroad station. We thought it was our suit case—but it wasn't."
